

Lafarge – Archives, Year 2011

July 12, 2011 - Lafarge issued a public notice, advising they are reviewing another source for coal for their production process. The possible source is Highvale, AB. Lafarge has done an extensive safety audit of the Highvale coal which enables them to safely use this coal in a trial.

The trial duration will be 5 to 7 days to be conducted within the next 2 to 3 months. Once this fuel trial is completed and trial data compiled, the results of the trial will be made public to parties seeking this data.

April, 2011 - Lafarge - is applying to amend their permit for an extension in the dates to complete their expansion by a year. The timeline for reducing emissions has not changed.